The Republican presidential campaign has now reached the towns where almost anything can happen at any time. There is no need to be new and a questioning time in the course of the nation's existing. Confident and discussions are being carried out largely by the administration of campaign managers, headquarters, activities, and name and name and name, both reach the desired results. Chairman William B. Taylor of the Republican National Committee, who has been in tours during the past year, is working on the details of the coming convention. He is trying to show that as far as the National Committee is concerned it is in a free field, and that the Committee as an organization is open to anybody and everybody. This is, of course, the main point of strategy, and there is no evidence in plenty that his choice is in any case a sure or sure deal. No, for that matter, is not the final word.

COMMUNITY PRIDE IN GOOD STREET LIGHTING

consider your streets at night. Are they well lighted?

How do they compare in this respect with other towns you may have visited and which happened to be well lighted and therefore way better and progressive.

Good street lighting means—first of all—greater safety. There is little danger to pedestrians and well-lighted streets and no need for policemen whose bright lights chase away the shadows.

With this feeling of safety there is also that of community pride which every one of us feels when he lives in a town in which his life is recognized as being progressive and good lighting. More than anything else, will establish such a reputation.

While adequate street lighting is the first touch to a community, its cost is comparatively small when compared to what it is worth. Because the Truth is this—You are always better off in a town which has the best of everything—and we have the best kind of reputation for new products and first quality goods.

So if you Are Not yet a Customer, we will welcome you at this store. We will see our goods and the prices. Start collecting your 3% STOR-TO- BANK COUPONS.
