For Girls Who Give Out Numbers

But Most Queer Queries Must Get Unanswered at Times
Bureau Gained to Helpful Task

A recent bulletin notes: "It is reported that a girl in your group has asked for a number. The girl may not have you in mind when she asks for a number, but you should be careful in answering her. It is important that you give out numbers only if you are sure that the girl is interested in you."

Informative Note

A girl, who is one of the best girls in her group, recently gave out a number to a girl whom she thought was interested in her. The girl who gave out the number was later told that the girl who received the number was not interested in her. The girl who gave out the number was very upset and felt that she had wasted her time.

Methods of Execution

At the end of the day, after the girls have finished their work, a brief meeting is held to discuss any problems that may have arisen during the day. The girls are encouraged to share their experiences and to offer suggestions for improving the system.
